Dear Friends

As Chairman of the 14th World Congress on Menopause, it is my pleasure to inform you that the stage has been set for the best-ever World Congress on Menopause! The Scientific Committee has succeeded in putting together a program of superb scientific quality.

Cutting-edge Plenary lectures will be supplemented by state-of-the-art scientific symposia and sessions on current controversies. We have received excellent scientific abstracts for oral and poster sessions.

Delegates will be able personally to interact with the world's best during meet-the-expert sessions. Prominent affiliated menopause societies will host individual symposia. We would like specially to welcome Spanish-speaking delegates. Recognizing the need to accommodate the language preference of a large percentage of our delegates, the congress will for the first time have a Spanish stream and simultaneous translation of the Plenary lectures.

With up to seven concurrent sessions at certain times, there will always be a topic of interest from which to choose.

We have been pleasantly surprised by the number of registrations already received as well as the positive response from industry.

Cancun is a beautiful city with superb congress facilities and accommodation. Please join us in making this a great event. Register early to avoid disappointment!

Tobie de Villiers
Chairman of the Congress

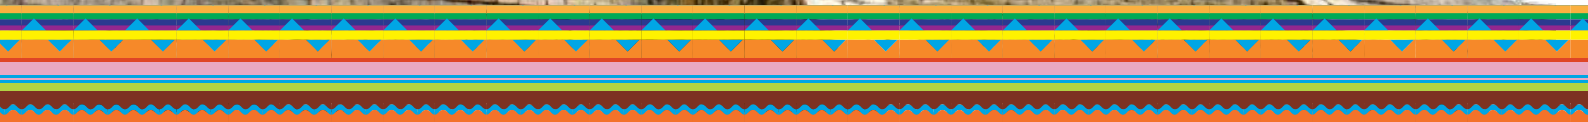

Dear Friends

Mexico is pleased to host the 14th World Congress on Menopause, organized by the IMS and assisted by the Local Organizing Committee. The IMS is preparing a Scientific Program based on the most important aspects of research, diagnosis, prevention and treatment of the health problems facing women during the menopausal transition and the postmenopause, providing us with updates on the latest scientific evidence for the benefit of our patients.

As the venue for the Congress, Cancun offers major transfer facilities and a fully functional Conference Center. Within walking distance of the Center are several high-quality hotels, which will provide accommodation to suit every taste and which will please the most demanding of guests. You will enjoy the personal attention and the warm hospitality that are typical of the Mexican people; everything will be done to make your stay comfortable and enjoyable.

We hope to welcome you in Cancun.
